June President’s Message

June marks the mid-way point in 2014 for SFUPS. I think back to the start of the year as we introduced a number of advances moving the organization in greater strides.

- New Business Cards
- First Ever Membership
- Updated Brochure/

- Professional SFUPS Sign
- SFUPS has a QR Code
- Robust Newsletter

These are but a few of the things your Board members have been working on this year. However, we are not about to call it a year and rest on our laurels. We are proud to announce that our SFUPS.com site will get an overhaul with many new features and a wish list of new capabilities you have been asking for. The Board plans to showcase the new site at our June meeting where members will witness what Susan Mears and her test subjects have accomplished.

The month of June is also very special as it marks the one year anniversary in our new home at the Courtyard Marriott Hotel. We plan to host a little celebration with a cash bar and some delicious treats for all members and guests. Please plan to socialize with your fellow photographers as early as 6pm if you can make it and bring a family member or a friend. We’ll also announce our second Society dive and “on the day” photo contest of the year focused on macro shooting. You won’t want to miss this surprise as there will be limited registration that will be on a first come first serve basis.

As I sign-off and you begin to peruse through the remainder of Dean’s fantastic Newsletter I’d like to call your attention to the tireless efforts of two very important Board members—Susan and Jim Mears. Have you ever sat and watched the logistics for how Jim sets up and takes down the audio and visual gadgetry that enables such a great multimedia experience at each meeting? Not to mention, the phenomenal number of hours it takes to maintain and develop new web site functionality and content so our members have great features like the Newsletter or Galleries? These are but a few of the many things I’m thankful to Susan and Jim for that I hope you join me in thanking them personally for their tremendous service to our organization.

See you Tuesday night!

Sam Hodge

Florida has so many amazing natural resources and there is a lot to conserve in our state. There are many people working on saving our fragile ecosystem, but there are also a lot of entities and folks willingly or unwillingly out to destroy what pristine areas and endangered species we have left, so there is always room for more feet on the ground.

As you may know, I am currently working on a number of environmental issues and protections for many different marine species. I am a firm believer that a few people or even one person can make a difference. A good example of this is a brief personal story. My mother, Marsha Smith started a grassroots, advocacy group in Maine called Citizens for a Green Camden. She went to the library one day and noticed pesticide flags all over the lawn, then saw children playing in the same grass. Being moved and upset by this, she came home and started Citizens for a Green Camden. Working with colleagues to approach town and state governments she got the word out about the dangers of pesticides. Then other towns in Maine started creating similar organizations, then towns in New Hampshire and on down the coast. Before you knew it there was a movement. Then one day a filmmaker from a similar anti-pesticide group made a documentary about the dangers of pesticides and asked my mother to be in the film. It was shown at many festivals across the United States. A few months later the phone rings and it's the EPA calling to give her an award called the Environmental Merit Award! Time and time again it's proven that a small number of people or even just one person can make a big difference. People will stand up and notice!

So in the spirit of making a difference and since SFUPS members already have a vested interest in preserving our underwater world, we are planning to introduce some groups and programs so you can get more involved in local conservation.

Here are the areas that we intend to focus on initially:

- Coral Reef Conservation
- Sea Turtle Rescue
- Shark Monitoring
- Seahorse Citizen Science

Stay tuned, we will be providing more detailed information at July's meeting.

June Featured Photographer
Susan Mears

Susan began taking pictures underwater with a Nikonos V and an array of close up framers. She progressed to several housed film SLR’s and then on to digital. Susan’s current underwater photography system is a Canon 7D, Nauticam Housing, and dual Inon Z240 strobes. Her favorite lenses are the Canon 100mm macro and the Tokina 10-17mm fisheye.

Susan enjoys shooting locally in the waters off South Florida and more exotic locations in the Caribbean and Pacific. Some of the places she has traveled to are the Bahamas, Dominica, St. Vincent, Papua New Guinea, Lembeh Straits, Komodo, Fiji, the Philippines and Ambon, Indonesia.

Susan uses Adobe Lightroom to process her digital images and create the galleries you see on the SFUPS web site. To see more of Susan’s photography both topside and underwater you can visit her personal website: www.mearsphoto.com

Elly is an underwater photographer and PADI Open Water Scuba Instructor who studied photography at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. She worked in various aspects of the photo industry in Los Angeles before moving to the Cayman Islands where her education in underwater photography began. Elly worked as Photo & Video Pro at Ocean Frontiers in the East End of Grand Cayman where daily diving helped hone her craft. Her education was furthered by assisting with workshops and photo shoots with Alex Mustard, Stephen Frink, and Martin Edge. It wasn’t long before she had her first cover of Scuba Diving magazine. She has been profiled in Sport Diver for her photographic work in Grand Cayman and has worked extensively in the field as a contributing photographer for numerous dive publications, as well as staff photographer and photo editor for Scuba Diving and The Undersea Journal. She recently joined the team at Reef Photo & Video and is excited to explore new ways to share what she’s learned from her background in diving, photography, graphic design, post-processing and publishing.

The SFUPS- Pompano Dive Center Second Annual “Our Backyard is a Wreck” Photo Contest
Get ready to be the one to challenge the 2013 winners in the Pompano Dive Center’s second annual photo contest – “Our Backyard is a Wreck.” As the title indicates, it’s all about the best wreck photography the Fort Lauderdale and Pompano shores have to offer. There will be two dive dates scheduled for June 14 and the 28. The plan is for a 3-tank dive for each trip to some coral-encrusted wrecks at a depth ranging around 60-75 feet. The trip on June 14 may start out with a deeper dive but the details will be confirmed shortly. There will again be both macro and wide-angle categories with the top image going to the Wreck Photographer of the Year. Susan Mears took this honor last year and the 2014 title will be up for grabs. Pompano Dive Center will be on-hand to judge the contest and the awards will again be generous. Click here for more details for the event
